Dear Early Childhood Education Center Families,

This message is to let you know that emergency medical services were called to our campus today after a staff member needed medical assistance. The staff member did not need to be transported. Due to federal privacy laws, we are not allowed to disclose more information; however, we are expecting the staff member to make a full recovery.

Some children may come home today and want to talk about the emergency responders or about what the staff member experienced. Just like teachers do in classrooms, we encourage families to talk with children about emergency responders, the importance of taking care of our bodies, and what to do if we need medical assistance. Our health team recommends parents check out this resource from Nemours KidsHealth for more information: <https://kidshealth.org/en/kids/stay-healthy/>.

Thank you,
